Two Hells Angels members arrested during traffic stop

Saturday night just before 10 p.m. two members of the Hells Angels were arrested by the Fulton County Sheriff's Office. According to a FCSO press release the traffic stop occurred at approximately 9:45 p.m. on Hwy 51 north just outside the city limits of Fulton, Ky., stopping the vehicle because one headlight was not working. The stop resulted in the arrest of Arthur Ralston and Terry L.

"The driver of the vehicle, Ralston, a white male from Fulton was not able to produce proper documentation for the vehicle," further stated the press release. "The driver was asked if there was anything illegal inside the vehicle and if he would consent to a search; Ralston stated no.

"A K-9 unit from the Fulton

During a traffic stop on Police Department (FPD) was on the scene and conducted a perimeter search of the vehicle. Per the FPD officer the dog did indicate on the vehicle.

Ralston and passenger, Atwill, a white male from Water Valley, Ky., were removed from the vehicle.

A 357 caliber semi-automatic handgun was found on one of the subjects and both subjects were in possession of numerous knives, including a switch blade. Inside the vehicle approximately 2.42 grams of what appeared to be crystal methamphetamine, (1) Diazepan pill, and a total of $8,372.76 were found. The crystal meth was packaged in individual packages. The majority of the currency was found inside a bank bag with the crystal meth laying

"Grain side" keeps Port busy with crane down

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Mathis of Hickman.

Editor The Hickman-Fulton County Riverport Authority has been staying busy loading grain barges. "With the current port design, we cannot fully utilize operations of loading grain barges and using the crane to unload barges with the crane at the same time," explained Port Director Greg Curlin. "So even though the crane is inoperable at present, the Port is still busy and we are supplementing our work load by loading more grain barges." The the Port to handle additional Port currently employs 12 full types of material up to 25 tons. and part-time associates. Options on whether to replace the 1976 crane or refurbish the crane were discussed at the monthly board meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 27 with board members Lynn Major, Mike Taylor, Monroe Bellew, Will Rice and new board members James Black and David Weatherly.

Curlin recommends that the Port travel to Canton, Missouri to view a refurbished crane that was being utilized by the Corps of Engineers. "The crane is owned by PL&M Cranes and it has been completely remanufactured with less than 1,000 hours," added Curlin. "The purchase of this crane and modifications to fit the location at the Port where the crane will be located is about $500,000." The board is also looking at the possibility of having the 1976 crane completely remanufactured at an expense of $980,000. Thus, giving the Port a 2015 model but handling the same workload as they had in the past. Another option could be purchasing a new duty cycle PL&M crane that would allow

Looking to the future, Curlin and the board are taking into consideration the best route for the Port to take as they contemplate spending between $500,000 to $1,000,000 dollars to replace a crane that has been costing them at least $5,000 monthly in maintenance expenses during recent years.

"If we want to offer more services for bigger materials to our customers we need to think about the future as we make this decision on this capital expense,'

School board approves draft budget for 2015-16

Charlotte Smith Editor

After approving the contracts for nonresident pupils for 2015-2016 which shows Hickman County receiving ten Fulton County students and other districts distributing students equally, the Fulton County School Board began their discussion of the 2015-2016 draft budget during a special called meeting held on Wednesday, Jan. 28 at 5:45 p.m. Fulton County Superintendent Collins described next year's school budget as conservative. "Last year we lost $46,000 in SEEK funds," he noted. "There is no guarantee how much tax revenue will actually receive."

Keeping this in mind, and having a better grasp of where the district is financially, Collins and Chief Finance Officer Jennifer Davis fielded questions from the board while noting that $700,000 was a good amount to have in their Fund I balance.

"This amount was determined based on recommendations from the auditor as he reviewed last year's audit with us earlier this month," added Collins. "He suggested we have a good roll over balance that includes three months worth of working balance. The Fund I draft budget accounts for 75% of the districts salaries."

Looking at a 2% salary increase across the board, next year's budget also recommends a tax increase of 4%. "Over the last several years (seven)

EYESORE OR PROGRESS? - For Paul Harrison who has lived on Terrace Drive for over 30 years and Hickman for 70 it is an eyesore. Harrison says the City of Hickman cut down trees and has bulldozed some of them over the hill across the street from his home. He says he is worried that once the trees rot, the hill will erode away faster than it was when the trees were standing. Harrison says the work was completed about a month ago with some more work done last week. He would like to see them finish the job, pushing the rest of the cut down trees over the hill. He states that he has also contacted the City twice and hasn't gotten them to come to talk to him about the condition of the property that is seen from his front porch on a daily basis.

Dave Says...

Dear Dave,

I've been following your plan, and I'd like to find a way to make a little more money on the side. Do you have any ideas for generating some passive income?

Taiwan

Dear Taiwan,

First, I want to make sure you're not getting involved with some get-rich-quick scheme. like a nothing-down real estate seminar. "Passive income" is a term that's sometimes attached to those sorts of things.

Passive income is pretty simple; it's income off of investments. In other words, it's money you set aside that makes you money. There's not any other income that is real passive income.

If you wrote a book and got royalties from the sales, some people would call that passive income. I get royalties from the books I've written over the years, but the people who would call that "passive income" didn't follow me around while I was working my tail off to write and sell those things. To me, it wasn't passive income at all; it was a business. Technically, the government would call it passive income. But they don't have anything to do with reality.

income, I only invest in two things — real estate, for which I pay cash, and good growth stock if the car gets totaled. You mutual funds. Active income usually takes the form of a small business idea or vour career. That's income that you, yourself, are literally creating.

But that's how I look at that stuff. Some people may have a different view on it, but I like to keep things simple.

Dear Dave,

by Dave Ramsey

I'm following your plan and trying to find different ways to save money. What's a good way to decide whether or not you need full-coverage insurance on an automobile?

Barbara

Dear Barbara,

a couple of things. First, you When it comes to passive need full-coverage or collision if you don't have a lot of money, because you'll end up walking need this coverage even if it's a $2,000 car. You might keep the deductible a little high to save on premiums and then, if something unexpected happens, you can cover the out-of-pocket expense with your emergency fund.

Let's say you have $50,000 you're thinking if you total it you can just write a check and replace the car. You can, but then you have to look at the other side of the coin. What does this collision coverage cost per year versus the $5,000 risk you're taking? I've run those numbers a few times, and generally I find I think you should look at collision insurance to be a pretty smart buy! —Dave

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor I feel so blessed to know that was born and raised in this town!! Words cannot express my thankfulness for the citizens of the community coming together and giving their all for the Mathis Twins benefit!!! I was so nervous about not having enough food until Saturday morning ... Then it hit me...Jesus fed thousands of people with 5 loaves of bread and 2 fish... At that point I had peace, I knew that this was in His hands! Around 3:30 people started showing up with enough food to feed a small army, I was ashamed I ever had any doubt! People were so supportive from the get go! I wish I could but there's no way for me to list each and every person because could fill this page but you all know who you are. Dear Editor,

I am blown away by a sleepy little town rich in historical land marks that some have disappeared like the walking bridge and other great sites but if the people in this town would wake up the potential of becoming a tourist stop would be great, there is so much of this place that has already disappeared never to return, if this is not stopped. The chance to share with a new generation what Hickman was and is will be gone forever. Since I have found this town we have bought three homes that we plan to restore. We are doing our part to try and save these old beautiful homes and we hope others do the same, and may this town find leaders to help make this happen. This town deserves one last chance.

Å stroke is a devastating event that changes the lives of nearly 800,000 U.S. adults every year. When a stroke doesn't kill, it often leaves the victim seriously disabled and unable to live independently. Stroke is the primary reason for nursing home admission.

Ischemic strokes are caused by blood clots and account for more than 85 percent of all strokes. Although most hospitals have clot-busting drugs on hand to limit the damage from ischemic stroke, they are no substitute for

Lowering stroke risk

In both men and women, a buildup of cholesterol and fat in the arteries is the most common preventable cause of stroke, as well as heart attack. Therefore, taking steps to lower the risk of heart attack also can lower the risk of stroke. This means eating a heart-healthy diet and maintaining a healthy weight, keeping your blood pressure, cholesterol, and blood sugar within normal limits, and not smoking.

Getting regular exercise also can lower cardiovascular dose aspirin and/or calcium risks in both men and women, supplements to reduce the risk and recent research shows that of preeclampsia. They also the effect in women is more recommend that pregnant women presented at the American Stroke Association's International Stroke their cholesterol, lose weight, Conference in February 2014, engaging in regular, moderateintensity exercise cuts stroke risk in women by 20 percent. Moreover, strenuous exercise, such as running, was found to confer no greater benefit than brisk walking. The researchers also found that regular exercise helped offset the increased risk of stroke that occurs in postmenopausal women taking hormone therapy. Unique risk factors in women

Women share many risk factors with men, but they also have risk factors unique to their gender. A special panel of the American Heart Association/ American Stroke Association reviewed clinical studies and developed recommendations for how women can reduce their risk of stroke.

"In mid- to late-age, the biggest risk factor is high blood pressure. Unfortunately, it doesn't cause symptoms, so, unless you go to a doctor, you don't know if you have it," Dr. Louise Klebanoff,

According to an article in MD, an assistant professor Women's Health Report knowing of neurology at Weill Cornell how to lower your risk of stroke Medical College says. "If we treated everyone with high blood pressure, we could significantly decrease the number of strokes

What You Should Know Recognize and respond to symptoms of a stroke:

"Sudden, severe headache can be a sign of stroke. However, the sudden onset of localized neurological symptoms-difficulty speaking, walking, seeing, or weakness or numbness on one side of the body-is unmistakably stroke," says Dr. Klebanoff.

Reaching an emergency department within 90 minutes can increase the likelihood of surviving a stroke with minimal or no deficit. Call 911 immediately if you suspect a stroke.

Risks in younger women

Younger women have risks all their own. Before and after pregnancy, hormones can cause an increase in blood clotting factors and cause blood pressure to skyrocket - a dangerous situation called preeclampsia, which doubles the risk of stroke.

guidelines recommend that women with a history of high blood pressure who become pregnant take lowaggressive measures to lower and quit smoking to lower the risk of stroke. Dr. Kelbanoff hopes that guidelines will increase understanding about stroke and inspire women to take the necessary steps to prevent stroke. "There are many risk factors you can control that will reduce your risk of stroke," she says. Editor's Note: Republished in summary from Women's Health Reporter, December 2014

Preliminary KIP (Kentucky Incentives for Prevention) should be released this month. Fulton County is the only school to have received results thus far. Once the results from all three schools (Fulton City, Fulton County and Hickman County) are received the strategic plans will be updated for the counties based on the results. Fact sheets for the board and community members will be reviewed with permission from the superintendents at each school district.

Ms. Hagerty has started working with 5th and 7th grade prevention lessons at Fulton County teaching the Smart Mouth curriculum to the fifth grade and Life Skills to the seventh grade. Arrangements are being made to present prevention lessons with grades K-2, with no decision being made on what curriculum to use at this time.

Kaylene Cornell with the Purchase District Health Department came and talked to seventh graders about the dangers of smoking and Ellen Walsh with Four Rivers is also going to speak about the dangers of alcohol with the seventh grade class. graders will complete the Life ther.

The Fulton-Hickman County Skills program by the end of January. Sixth and seventh graders will finish the program in February. Fifth graders have already completed the Smart Mouth curriculum and received certificates. Principal Sondra Gibbs is deciding on if the curriculum would benefit Carr Elementary students and no schedule has been discussed.

A Leader in Me grant that was discussed was a grant that they had written for Fulton County and Fulton Independent school system and had received. Hickman County seventh and eighth graders will begin the Life Skills this semester. They will be split by semester so this will be a different group of students than in August. The program has been offered to be taught to Hickman County elementary students as

The Hickman County TAG (Teen Action Group) is currently working on a Social Norms Campaign. Students will design posters using data collected from the social norms campaign. The goal of the campaign is to show students that not every one is participating in substance abuse. The posters the students designed will be sent to a printer to be published and hung in various places around the school.

Fulton Independent and Fulton County schools designed stickers that Kyle Smith is printing to be used with the Fulton County SADD club's Sticker Shock activity. A tentative date of March 14 has been set for Fulton Independent with no date being set for Fulton County as of now.

Fifth graders recently learned about the dangers of smokeless tobacco on each of the systems of the body. The students were asked to trace a classmate and then draw the different systems of the body, they wrote the different effect of smokeless tobacco on their bodies around the tracings. Students enjoyed this activity, and hung their drawings in the hallway for other students and teachers to view. The next lesson in this series will go over how much money is s pent on smokeless tobacco. Ellen Walsh presented Social Host information to the board. Fulton Independent's eighth Board members will review fur-

DEPRAVITY

It is my opinion that any right thinking man or woman would be gravely concerned about the moral condition of our land because there are men and women, even our president, who are determined the signature of our society is to be sodomy. It appears the Supreme Court of our land may soon be ruling on God looked over the ancient cities of Sodom and Gomorrah and said, "Their sin is very grievous" (Genesis 18:20). The wickedness of men and women has not changed. We have become embolden in our sin. Dare we think we can go on forever defying the holiness and judgment of God? Nations and men across the ages have thought so but have been proven wrong on every occasion. Do not be deceived, God is not mocked. The angelic messengers of God said to Lot, "We will destroy this place because the cry of them is waxen (grown) great before the face of the Lord; and the Lord has sent us to destroy it" (Gen. 19:13). God did. He sent fire and brimstone and destroyed those cities.

Move forward four centuries and view Israel in the wilderness. God provided everything they needed yet they reveled and complained against God continually. "And they sinned yet more against him by provoking the most High in the wilderness, yes, they spoke against God" (Psalm 78:17, 19). God slew great numbers of them in the wilderness (v34).

Move forward yet fourteen more centuries and here WE are. God has blessed this nation in the past but "for all this Israel (we) sinned still, and believed not his wondrous works" (v32). I ask you, "What do you think God is getting ready to do with America?"

a draft budget, three areas are considered which include Fund 1, Fund 2 (government funding), and 310 (building funds). They also look at bonding potential.

Next year's budget currently sits at $4.1 million with the anticipation of retaining the staffing positions as they are for this year. "Last year we had to make up approximately $125,000 after losing $46,000 in SEEK funds and the misappropriation of funds," Collins explained. "This year we are about $78,000 off of where we would like to be. We would like to have a little more in contingency funding."

A clearer picture will be revealed once actual revenue figures are received by the district from the state.

Letters of intent to staff members go out at the end of February and are due back to the central office before March 15 as specified in board policy. If there are any staffing changes in 2015-16, it could create needed adjustments in the draft budget.

The board did approve the draft budget on Jan. 28 and will revisit the budget in May.

The board also set graduation date of Friday, May 22, with the potential for a change depending on any snow days between now and then.

An amendment was approved in the FY 2014-15 budget.

Discussion continues with the regards to the athletic facilities when Coastal Steel out of Florida contacted the school offering them a 40x75x10 feet steel building for $25,000. "That's just the nuts, bolts, steel and metal, delivered," Collins noted. "Not installed. It will cost us another $50,000 for the concrete and plumbing."

board has budgeted $119,000 for the athletic facilities upgrades. "If we purchase this steel building, erect it and have the plans for the track how the layout looks for everything it will cost us $115,000," Collins added. "In the 2015-16 budget we do not have $119,000 budgeted. The funding just isn't there. However, it is in the 14-15 budget and so we can plan for this year.'

"The board will be looking to members of the community to become partners with the district to make this project a reality. We are talking about it and looking at all our options," Collins said.

Sports In Kentucky For the Hickman Courier By Bob Watkins

Lone unbeaten in the Land-of-D-I, Kentucky (22-0) heads to another clamorous SEC outpost where a throng of hostiles wait in numbers that invite a simple, SRO. Destination Gainesville, Florida.

History says the last time a UK team occupied the perfect pinnacle and was awash in noisy admiration, national acclaim and res, derision too, was March 4, 1966, a Friday.

Kentucky was 22-0, its climb up the polls had blossomed from Little Engine-that-Could storyline to America's Team. (Duke was a hoops prep school). Closer to home the team was Rupp's Runts. A sure-handed, good shooting and unselfish to a fault, team. One destined for Land-of-Beloved. Coach Adolph Rupp was less grouchy, warmed by glow of praise and grrrrreat adjectives. A Sports Illustrated cover story was on its way: Man in the Brown Suit, College Coach of the Year. By first week of the NCAAs, Rupp had passed his old coach at Kansas, Phog Allen, become winningest coach in college hoops, 747.

On that Friday in March 1966 the news item drawing most media attention beyond the war in Vietnam and Kentucky's basketballteam, was John Lennon. In a fit of giddy sacrilege that mortified his English handlers, Lennon had the cheek to declare to a reporter, "We (The Beatles) are more popular than Jesus.' While Billy Graham gasped and Oral Roberts fainted (we think), the stir and storm Lennon created, let Rupp and America's Team file quietly onto a charter bus and head down U.S. 25 to Knoxville where Howard Baine and his brutish bunch awaited. From that Friday on, perhaps ignited by the curse of a Sports Illustrated cover, and fired certainly by a media concoction after the NCAA title game in College Park, Maryland, Rupp's Runts was transformed from America's team into five white guys and its racist coach.

Fast forward near half-acentury and another No. 1 ranked and unblemished Kentucky team files onto a charter plane this week and heads to Gainesville. For fans old enough to recall Tennessee's manhandling their Wildcats 49 years ago (69-62 and wasn't that close), a win this Saturday would be extra sweet.

Put in current perspective .. While anything short of 40-0 season will deny this Kentucky team lofty praise as America's team in today's hoops world (Duke is no longer a prep school), the 2014-15 Wildcats are special, male, citation, speeding 71/55 to a man, and becoming more so for every blue-to-white platoon growing maturity with it's team-

Meanwhile, the Wildcats remain the lone unbeaten in the Land-of-D-I. LOUISVILLE-CAROLINA

A stinging loss (at Carolina January 13), Rick Pitino called it, was erased when the Cardinals exhausted and beat down North Carolina Saturday. √ Spotted the visitors an 18point lead ... then, classic Pitino Ball. Turn up the heat, create bedlam, defend as if there are seven of us, and presto, new evidence: Team nobody wants not in March, Louisville. Notes ... √ Terry Rozier is an All American, period. If there were a Mr. Clutch Award, he would own it. √ Montrezl Harrell is a special talent, but his show-boat theatrics will bring special attention at next level from the lummox who take offense to being shown up. Harrell's antics prove that Pitino has mellowed since his time at Kentucky. For showboating, added Curlin. "If containers and the expansion of the Panama Canal were to bring more business to this area we want the Hickman Port to be ready to handle it.'

Another possible upgrade being researched by Curlin and the Port Board include upgrades to the conveyors. One conveyor has a smaller 30 inch belt and handles 50 percent of the ports business. This conveyor has been in service from the beginning of the port. The other belt is bigger yet runs slower. Currently it takes approximately 10-12 hours, which includes truck time to unload or load a barge. If they make the needed upgrades the speed could go from 125 tons per hour to 170 tons per hour allowing them to unload or load a barge in 6-7 hours.

estimates currently from $100,000 to $125,000. To upgrade the 30 inch belt estimates range from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000. Curlin will be looking to Federal Grants, State Grants, Delta Regional Authority, and Economic Development grants to help offset these costs. Additional funding will have to be borrowed depending on which avenue the Port board decides to pursue. New scales recently added, with the aid of grants from the Kentucky Water Transportation funds, are working well. "All of our customers are happy with the new scales," noted Curlin. With a new tenant in the former Hickman Pipe and Tube facility the Port sought estimates from three businesses on needed repairs to the warehouse. Those repairs include the roof, front of the building, doors and heating and air. "Once the needs of Pipe Plus, Inc. are clear we will make a decision on how to proceed further," stated Curlin.

It was noted that the annual high water inspection will take place in March 2015. Operating reports for November 2014 and December 2014 were approved.

The board adjourned into closed session at approximately 7:30 p.m. to discuss business and property.

Members of the board are scheduled to meet again for their regularly scheduled meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 24 at 6:00 p.m.

Joint efforts bring $5,000 worth of equipment to Fulton County ATC

Charlotte Smith Editor

Fulton County Area Technology Center (ATC), the Fulton County-Hickman County Economic Partnership Development (EDP) and the West Kentucky Workforce and Investment Board has the students at the ATC reaping the benefits. Last week the students showed off new tools and equipment they now have to work with in their Machine Tool and Welding class, including a 40-ton Air/Hydraulic shop press with a $5,000 grant.

"The EDP was very pleased to be able to partner with Mr. Dallas Pruitt and the ATC on this grant," stated EDP Executive Director Eddie Crittendon. "The funds from this grant were provided by the West Kentucky Workforce Investment Board and our partnership. The $5,000 worth of equipment we provided helps to insure that the students who graduate from these classes will have the skills they need to be able to join tomorrow's workforce. The ATC that serves A joint effort between the our three high schools does a wonderful job in helping to prepare students for the future and they are an intricate part of the future economic success of Fulton and Hickman counties. The administration and faculty of the ATC do a great job with the students and we were glad that we could help provide some much needed equipment for their programs."

The grant, entitled "Operation Workforce" purchased the following items for the ATC students:

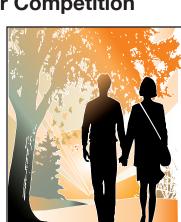

- 40-ton Air/Hydraulic shop
- 10 sets of Machinist Caliper and Micrometer sets
- 2 Indexable Turning Sets
- 12" dial height gage Band saw blades
- Auto Darkening Welding
- 10 machinist scribes
- Deburring tools Misc. Sizes of taps

With these tools the students will now enjoy more hands on learning with newer equipment, wearing out the olds ones.

Pruitt took time to demonstrate the 40 ton air/hydraulic shop press which will aid the students with a variety of projects. "With this new press the students can shape metal and form 90 degree angles," Pruitt said. "The primary reason for the addition of the press is to promote additional student learning, The press enables the students to see how structurally sound their welds are, giving them the ability to test them."

already completed our first preliminary study with them and we are waiting for West Kentucky's financial comparison to review it," explained Kimbell. "We have hopes of receiving it by February

The next step would be for the board to review both Co-ops, deciding which one to pursue further with a possible merger. "Making this decision by February 28 would eliminate having to hire a new manager or naming an interim manager," Kimbell added. "If we select a particular Coop to study further about merging, we would contract with them to serve as our manager."

Kimbell believes that memberowners will benefit not only immediately but also down the road if a merger were to take place. "It will be cheaper in the long run to do it that way," he said. "It will save us the expense of a salary and benefits for either a new or interim manager." HFRECC Board has prioritized the following requirements for Gibson EMC or West Kentucky RECC, if either are to be considered for a merger consolidation, and all parties have agreed to

1. The merger consolidation would ensure that HFRECC members see a decrease in the rates that they pay today, and into the future.

2. That all current employemployees with the new merged

3. That the Hickman office and warehouse remain and become a district office of the new merged Co-op permanently.

4. That a Substation for Carlisle County or necessary distribution upgrades be completed by the end of 2017.

5. That the current level of Operations and Maintenance Budget look at Hickman Electric System continue, so we can ensure future ystem reliability improvements.

While it is true that no two Co-ops in the TVA have merged, Kimbell informs us that their have been other Co-ops in different parts of Kentucky who do not eceive their power from TVA have merged. "Several mergers between Co-ops have occurred around the country and at least two in Kentucky in the last 25 years," he added.

"Merging with a Co-op elimiees of HFRECC would remain nates the need for a purchase price," he noted. "This ultimately elps keep the rates down, too.

By law a "muni" (municipality) cannot merge with a Co-op, one would have to buy out the other. "Either way if we buy them out or they buy us out, someone would have to pay," Kimbell stated. "If a merger happens between us and another Co-op, we would encourage the merged Co-op to

The current timeline during merger talks does include HFRECC's board hoping to decide by the end of February which one to possibly merge with and will still require the board to continue gathering more information. "We will gather more financial information before proceeding, which could take a few months," added Kimbell. "The hope would be to put it to a vote before the member-owners of both Co-op some time this sum-

With that said, HFRECC will continue to provide the public with information as it becomes available. "There will be many meetings with the member-owners before the vote later this summer," Kimbell said.

Kimbell understands that the survey sent out to its memberowners was very vague. "We couldn't release any information more than we did because sensitive financial information is involved," he explained.

HFRECC sent out 2,800 surveys. "As of today we have approximately 650 surveys returned out of 2,800, we do not have any results yet, they are being tabulated by the survey company," stated Grissom. "By the end of this week we should have all surveys returned and have full results by the end of the second week of February. Some comments say 'I don't care where I get my power I just want the cheapest option', others say 'I am happy with my service and I don't want anything

Another portion of the survey having customers commenting with the following, "Typically it seems that a customer with a high level of power consumption is more concerned about rates, particularly the commercial and industrial customers which make up more than 50% of our total revenue. While a segment of the residential customers, that have low consumption seem to care more on the fact that we currently have achieved a high level of customer loyalty because of the good job are employees have done with customer service."

The survey was sent out to see if and how any member-owners are served by more than one of the three Co-ops. "Some might have a preference as to which one we merge with depending on which Co-ops already serve them," added Kimbell.

As more information becomes available additional articles and press releases will follow. It could take several months to finalize a merger, if and when it becomes a reality. Member-owners of both Co-ops wishing to merge will place the final and deciding vote on the merger. Gibson Co. Electric Membership Corporation's Dan Rodamaker, President and CEO, responds to the Hickman Courier's questions about the possible merger with HFRECC.

Why does your board feel this would be a good move for Gibson Electric and their owner-members?

Corporation's board feels it is a good idea to talk with Hickman-about the possibility of a merger/consolidation because our members and Hickman-Fulton's members could benefit from increased efficiencies in the areas buyout would not benefit our rate of personnel, equipment, and

> Our board and our employees are here to serve our members and our objective is to do what's in their best interest. Hickman-Fulton's board and employees also are trying to do what's in their members' best interest. This merger/consolidation would not increase Gibson EMC members' rates, but it would lower Hickman-Fulton's members' rates.

Of course, we also are concerned about our employees too. No employee would lose his or her job as a result of the merger. In short, we believe that a merger/consolidation would result in a better utility for everyone.

How will the owner members the road - 20 years from now?

In the short-term, a merger/ consolidation with Gibson EMC would give Hickman-Fulton members a substantial rate decrease. The long-term result of a merger/consolidation would be a new utility even better equipped to deliver reliable, affordable and safe service to our members.

I understand that two Coops in TVA have never merged before - why now? Why these

Our two Co-ops are neighbors and we have partnered closely for about four years on shared services. With the resignation of Hickman-Fulton President and CEO Greg Grissom to become President/CEO of Pennyrile Electric, our boards felt it was a good time to explore the possibility of a merger/consolidation.

While we each have good systems on our own, we believe there is an opportunity to be great

At Gibson EMC we're thankful that on our last residential survey our members gave us an American Customer Satisfaction Index score of 91 – the highest of large utilities in the country, but we're always looking to improve. With a joint focus on safety, operational excellence and customer service, we believe that we can give our members even better service together.

How will it affect service?

Like Hickman-Fulton, Gibson EMC is a very progressive cooperative that embraces technology. Both Co-ops share the same automated metering infrastructure (AMI), the same pre-payment option for our members, the same member information system and the same geographic Currently HFRECC services information system. Our Co-ops 3,700 meters. In comparison, also are connected with fiber for email and Voice over IP phone systems. We believe a merger/ consolidation would yield even better service through efficiencies and expanded expertise.

Which Co-op takes control? If our systems merge or consolidate, neither Co-op will take control. Partnering as we've done in the past and considering a merger/consolidation is simply applying the seventh cooperative principle - cooperation among cooperatives. It's what we should do to best serve our members.

Will there be fewer board members?

There would likely be fewer board members, but the board members would represent specific geographical areas within the merged/consolidated utility. The Co-ops' members within a geographical area would elect a any meetings planned with our board member from within that same area.

Will there be less employees Gibson Electric Membership in the short term? or down the

Hickman-Fulton's

Fulton Counties RECC's board and Gibson EMC's board have agreed that a merger/consolidation would only be considered if it ultimately would save members money through economies of scale and protect local jobs - including those held by the employees of both systems. If our systems merged/consolidated, the Hickman office would remain open and the employees who work in that location would keep their jobs and compensation. Down the road, any organizational changes would be accomplished through attrition or > West Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative's David Smart, President & CEO, responds to The Hickman Courier's questions about exploring a possible merger with HFRECC.

> Why did WKRECC decide to explore the option of merging with HFRECC?

Cooperative board members benefit? short term? and down are elected to look out for the best interest of their memberowners. As fiduciaries of the cooperative, board members are called to make sound financial decisions for their cooperatives. There are many reasons why WKRECC decided to explore the option of merging with HFRECC. Both cooperatives are financially sound, operate under Kentucky law, buy wholesale power from TVA, share many of the same values and commitment to service, have similar operating procedures and provide service in some of the same counties. It just makes sense to explore the possibility of a merger.

How will it benefit your member-owners once the merger goes through and down the road – 10, 20 years from now?

In the event that the merger goes through, our member-owners would benefit from economies of scale such as financial, operational and contractual efficiencies. These economies of scale will lead to future rate stability and delayed rate actions. Our member-owners would also benefit from the expansion of resources and expertise.

How will it affect rates?

HFRECC members would see a rate reduction. All memberowners of the combined cooperative would benefit from future rate stability and delayed rate ac-

How will it affect the number of employees?

All current employees will remain to meet the combined needs of both cooperatives.

How will it affect service in both areas?

The quality of service in both areas would be enhanced due to interconnections that could be made between the two systems that would allow for back-feed a two-way communications plat- capabilities that currently do not 35,000 meters and West KY form and we share servers for exist. Our detailed maintenance programs and planned system improvements will further enhance reliability. The employees' commitment to provide excellent service for the member-owners will continue.

> Are you planning on sending out a survey to your memberowners like HFRECC did?

> At this time, we do not plan on sending out a survey to our member-owners. In the event the boards decide to proceed with a detailed merger study, we would establish a merger communications plan that not only reaches the member-owners of WKRECC but also the memberowners of HFRECC.

> Do you plan on meeting with your member-owners? If so,

At this point we don't have member-owners. However, if our boards decide to go forward with the merger study, we will evaluate the need for town hall meetings as part of our merger comboard munications plan.

A big third quarter for the Falcons, which included three 3-point shots, proved to be the difference in the loss by the Pilots.

Fulton County battled back from a 20-14 first quarter deficit to take a 34-33 halftime lead on their home court.

Lake County then came from the dressing room and mounted a 24-15 scoring advantage in the third period which set the tone for the remainder of the game.

"The 3-point shots just killed us in the third," said Coach Mitchell Williamson. "We played well for most of the game, but there were many possessions that we didn't put points on the board.'

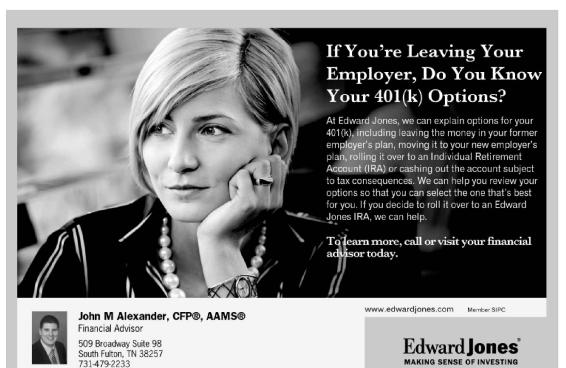

The Pilots hit on 25 of 40 free throws on the night and had three players in double figures.

Steven Roberson led all scorers with 23 points, followed by Dre Smith 16, Davis Major 15, Aaron King 6, Devontae Hampton 2 and Terrell Wilson 2.

Jamario Jones and Rashawn Taylor each had 16 points in the game for Lake County.

First District Runner-Up

District crown eludes Jr. Lady Pilots

Charles Choate Courier Correspondent The Fulton County Middle School Lady Pilots ended their season last week with an impressive (11-3) record.

But for Coach Merry Williams and players, the downfall of the story comes from the fact that all three of those losses came at the hands of the Jr. Lady Comets of Carlisle County.

The last loss, and the one that dealt the greatest sting, came in Hickman last Thursday, when Carlisle County claimed the First District Tournament championship with a 43-26 win over Fulton County.

"It's not the way we wanted to go out," said Coach Williams, whose team took home the second place trophy. "We played them to within five points in our last game here, but we just got beat down the floor early on in the game and couldn't come back.

The Jr. Lady's had advanced to the championship game, when they defeated Hickman County 51-22 in the opening round of the tournament.

Hoping to punch their ticket to the championship game of the First District Tournament, Fulton County came out strong and played well on the night, handing the Jr. Lady Falcons a 29 point

With Nikia Smith and Karlie Williams combining for 14 first down the court. We didn't get quarter points, Coach Merry Williams' team jumped in front 22-4, and upped the lead to 34-14 at the halftime intermission.

Alaya Barnett's eight points in the third period allowed Fulton County to extend their lead even farther, as they entered the final six minutes of play leading 45-scorers in the game with 14, with Nikia Smith adding 12, Karlie Williams 11, Alaya Barnett 8, Savannah Roberts 3 and Grace Elder 3.

The chance for the Jr. Lady Pilots to capture the First District title was all but squashed after the first two quarters of play. Carlisle County came out and dominated the first half, taking a 28-4 halftime lead, that was just to insurmountable for Coach Merry Williams team to overcome.

"We just could not get the ball to play on our end," said Coach Williams about the two opening quarters. "The girls were really excited after the first win and I thought we would be ready to play. We kept our heads up in the second half and didn't quit playing, but we just couldn't catch up."

The Jr. Lady Pilots did not Delaynee Cermak led all hang their head in the final two periods, and in fact won the second half by a score of 22-15.

Only three players entered their names in the score books for Fulton County on the night.

Karlie Williams and Delaynee Cermak each had 10 points in the game, while Nikia Smith added

The games leading scorer was Carlisle County's Taylor Carrico, who led the way with 15 points.

Grissom updates EDP board on Co-op merger talks

Benita Fuzzell

In what would be his final meeting with the Fulton County Hickman County Economic Development Partnership board, immediate past board chairman Greg Grissom, at the request of EDP Director Eddie Crittendon updated board members Dan Voegeli, Fulton County Judge/Executive Jim Martin, Robert Burrow, Greg Curlin, Dale Vowell, Garrett Hutchins, Sam Hancock and current presiding board chairman Greg Pruitt on talks currently underway between the Fulton-Hickman Counties RECC and West Kentucky RECC as well as Gibson County Electric Membership Cooperative.

In session for their annual meeting Jan. 29 at the Fulton County Office Building in Fulton at noon, the board heard Grissom offer insight as to how the communication between the HFCRECC and the other two Co-ops began to develop about the possibility of merging the Grissom, who serves as Manager of the local Co-op and will assume the same position at the Pennyrile Electric Co-op in early March, told the board a number of factors were considered by all three parties, including whether a merger would be financially sound. He said the Co-op membership will ultimately vote on the proposal to merge with either of the Co-ops, and that during his tenure of serving as manager of the local Co-op a merger with either West Kentucky or Gibson Electric would be a definite advantage for commercial, industrial and residential customers, as the HFRECC had the highest residential rate in the Tennessee Valley Authority service area.

Grissom said the idea for a merger was actually first explored in 1982 however the other two Coops walked away.

"But today, we are in a position where it would make sense," he

He added that at the end of February the local RECC board will decide "which one to dance

Grissom indicated more than one joint meeting had been held between the boards of each of the other Co-ops and the local RECC. He said there were several key indicators in analyzing the positives and consequences of merging with either Co-op including rates and employees.

As an example Grissom said while a merger could result in a reduction of the representative number of board members from the local Co-op, the benefit of a major reduction in rates could benefit the entire community, such as Fulton County Detention Center in Hickman could see a $250,000 annual savings with GEMC rates.

"So at the end of February, the (RECC) board will make a recommendation to the membership and they will vote on it?" asked board member Dan Voegeli.

Grissom said the membership vote could occur early to late summer, with the method of voting dependent on the Co-op's bylaws and

"But when would the rates go down?" asked board member and current manager of the Hickman Electric System Dale Vowell.

"GCEMC said they can go down immediately," Grissom replied. 'But how can they absorb all that debt?" Vowell went on to ask.

Grissom said the rate decreases could also be tiered, with one decrease enacted first and others to come later incrementally. Vowell also asked if there would be district managers, should the decision be made to merge with GCEMC, for the "districts" already in place at Tiptonville, Tenn., Troy, Tenn., Alamo, Tenn. and Medina, Tenn. He questioned whether each of those locations already had a district manager at the location and if Hickman would also follow suit.

Grissom said GCEMC had vicepresidents over designated areas such as vice-president of member services, vice-president of finance and vice-president of other specific board as well as the community.

Current staff at the HFRECC would report to those in the specific areas overseeing the entire Co-op once the merger took place.

In regard to West Kentucky Coop, Grissom said the one central location for the main office is in Mayfield.

Grissom said the merger and ultimate reduction in rates would be a plus as it related to industrial re-
